

Sheet No. 2. Camp No 11 on the road, March 16th Monday March 16th Camp No. 11. Left Beaver creek this morning at sunrise and have traveled about 18 miles, and are camped on the flats, cutting willows as usual for wood. Jayhawk was not seen entirely. The colored treated the whole battall with a little of the good creature this morning. We are about 160 miles from Denver and making good time.

Tuesday March 17th Camp No 12. Started early and traveled about 12 miles, passed over several miles of low bottom covered over with a crust of alkali, very much resembling saleratus and in some places near an open thick. After leaving low bottom we crossed some very heavy sand.
On the side of one sand bank we found a miserable little cabin inhabited by a specimen of the genus homo and a small specimen of a whiskey barrel, where no doubt comfort and happiness are dealt out to the weary traveler with a British bond. A ~~man~~ is on the bank of the river with plenty of small willows on an island for wood. Today Old Lightweight treated to the whiskey.

Wednesday March 18th Camp No 13 traveled about 20 miles passed Lillian Springs and are camped at Spring Hill Station.
Just above Lillian Springs there are some four miles of heavy sand.
