Upon graduation, the graduates of the Quality Systems Technology program will be able to:

- Develop, operate, and manage quality control systems
- Acquire and analyze data using appropriate statistical methods to facilitate process analysis and improvement
- Apply modern problem solving tools and techniques necessary for quality tracking and improvement
- Understanding of quality auditing and principles for meeting domestic and international standards
- Manage relations with customers and suppliers
- Communicate quality concepts effectively
- Operate equipment and manage resources to collect data related to quality.