

Monroe County has a rich agricultural heritage.

Farming is not just what we do, it is an important part of who we are. But to survive farming depends on the next generation. That is why Monroe County Community College and Michigan State University have partnered to offer a new program to nurture Monroe County's next generation of farmers.

AGRICULTURE

at Monroe County Community College

You can ensure that this new program has the resources it needs to thrive and keep agriculture local. With your tax-deductible gift, we will invest in the farmers of the future. You support will help aspiring farmers through:

- Scholarships to entice students to choose farming as a career
- Farming summer camps for 7th and 8th grade students
- Plant and maintain demonstration plots on the MCCC campus
- Ensure the long-term viability of the program through support for student recruitment, operations, and future program development

Provide ongoing support for local agriculture with a three year pledge
