Native American Star Stories

Explore the star lore of various Native American tribes. The peoples who lived in North America had their own names for the stars and stories to go with them. The Star mythology of Native Americans is alive and radiant, just look at the night sky on a clear night. It is likely that a myth accompanied each star group. Celestial beliefs of some tribes are documented; did the Native people "see" the same stars as the ancient Greeks? Is it possible these perceptions are the same? For example; is the Big Dipper a "bear" in the Americas and likewise in Greece? Wisdom about these storytellers and their tales will be shared.

The "Secret Sauces" of Grants Success

For some nonprofit organizations, going after grant funding can be a productive activity. For other nonprofits, it's an exercise in frustration. Success at getting funded is not about knowing how to "write grants." Getting funded depends mainly on how well grant seekers know the true funding priorities of grant makers. That's the "secret sauce" of Grants Success.

This five-session workshop is designed to take the mystery out of what's important in well-done grant applications.

We are going to use the Community Foundation of Monroe County grant application as our teaching tool. During each session you will learn about little-known strategies designed to maximize your chances of getting funded. Best of all, at the end of these five sessions, you will have a fully developed CFMC grant application, ready for upload.

Some organizations are going to get grants from the Community Foundation of Monroe County this year. Why not your organization?
